My Darlingheart,

It's now 4.15 - I have just finished reading such a wonderful letter - yours of Thursday. Thank you my sweetheart - you say that receiving a letter puts you in to the right mood for writing & yours has done just that. I want to talk to you. Most of all I want to tell you that I love you & that I'm missing you so very much. I love, & that I think you are the most wonderful most precious sweetheart anyone ever had. Oh darling - you are so dear & precious to me - well, I just love you & love you with every little bit of me.

You were a darling to make a special trip back to town on Thursday to get my book. Now I am set & can do a bit of study. I probably won't get too serious over it, but it will be an occupation for my spare time & will be

My Darlingheart,

It's now 4.15. I have just finished reading such a wonderful letter - yours of Thursday. Thank you my sweetheart - you say that receiving a letter puts you into the right mood for writing & yours has done just that. I want to talk to you. Most of all I want to tell you that I love you & that I'm missing you so very much. I love, & that I think you are the most wonderful most precious sweetheart anyone ever had. of very real benefit to me. I often feel so inadequate when I put words together - I have my own ideas as to how they should go but I have very little idea why. I'm very glad I've taken it up.

This response is a little back to front to be replying now to Thursday's letter when I've already replied to Friday's. This one gives me a much better ^{idea} of your own outlook as regards the car as it was mostly written before I broke down. You poor old kid, Jean certainly did take the matter out of your hands by arranging about the cottage then practically telling you she was keeping the car - that's what it amounted to. You're quite right about being whistled up when you can serve a purpose - it is poor sweet heart. I had my share of being general carrier & taxi to the family even they're at you! Oh well, if common decency decides make them chop it and now we'll just have to tell them to hold off. I feel most disgusted that Jean should have done that - one could hardly call it fair even if they'd returned Austin in good order.

Don't you worry about it parents leave loved. I have no doubt & that a bit of work will put it right. I suppose Chelrose is already on the job & will fix it for you. The suggestion is too late this time of course but I wonder if you'd think of asking Anderson Hall to do any jobs - it's just an idea, & if you're not keen on it forget it, but I think he knows Austin's pretty well.

I was pretty right when I said the book would cost as much to post as to buy, but it's well spent.

I'm so glad Donald got the job - congratulate him for me will you. It's nice to see some people get what they want & be together ^{even} if we can't for a while. But soon will come give the cat & Oh it will be so good.

Thanks for your comment on my handwriting, perhaps you're biased, but I liked it just the same. As long as it tells you the "most delicious things", that's all I want from it. I just try to tell you what is in my heart, & how I like to think that you know what goes on there. It's you you know.

Don & Beaten & his wife will be thrilled - they're right now, he's done two tams. But then he hasn't had over four months with his wife yet as I have. Sweetheart even now I can't find it in me to wish for things to be different for us - when I miss you more than usual I try to think of the time we've had together & how lucky we are to have had it & how wonderful it was. You know if I hadn't sprained my ankle I'd have quite likely got some promotion here as Joe is doing - I'd have been here on the ground floor & so it wouldn't have been worth a tenth of our time together.

I'll get Mr. Rank before long I suppose & I'll be quite content with that. I wouldn't barter a day with my wife for any promotion.

I do hope the party was good & that you enjoyed it. It would help it for them to have their wish just before it. A few grogs would do you good sweetheart & the people there should be ones that you know - how I wish I could be with you.
It's beer day on Thursdays here & Ray & I have been saving a bottle each for the advent of his helms or heirs. No wine as yet & but as the grog comes on again tomorrow we drink the two bottles tonight - gee it was good - freezing cold & just the weather for it too.

Your saying "light out" to Judy is to me an entirely different expression from "light out" to my mind. Am I silly? Suppose I am sweet but I didn't want you to think you offended. Forget about it. I suppose I should get used to a few things like that - it would do me good.

Tomorrow you're taking Judy to the park to be in the fun? When the Glendsters arrive. I hope Judy enjoys it very much & it's bearable.

It's night time now darling hear my bed time - I started again a couple of pages back. Don't let the car worry you sweet even if it does cost a few bob & is laid up for a while. It's only the inconvenience for you that I don't like.

I'm so glad to hear that Judy is progressing so well - I hope he's and comes soon. Give her huggles & kisses from me. Goodnight now my sweetheart & darling - How I wish I could really tell you how much I love you. I do adore you beloved one - I love you & love you with all my heart & soul. Always your very own adoring husband P.S. Your love pats from you to me were so nice & warm. Off murray even send you some in return - they were so gentle & ever so loving. M.
